Case Description:

On Tuesday, April 18, 2006, at approximately 4:10 p.m., two black male suspects approached a man and his elderly father in the driveway of their home in the 100 block of Coach Lamp Lane in North Houston. The suspect featured here was holding a black and silver handgun, and racked a round into the chamber before demanding the two victims' property.

The elder of the two victims struck the suspect in the head with a heavy object, and the suspect in turn struck the man in the head with the butt of the handgun. The son, fearing for his father's safety, attacked the suspect to defend his father. During the struggle, the suspect shot the son point blank in the chest. The two suspects then took the son's wallet and fled the scene in a blue Ford Taurus or Contour with tinted windows. The back windows were tinted darker than the front. The suspects drove east on Coach Lamp Lane at a high rate of speed.
